Hi Kenton,

Glad the direction landed well, and thanks for the author photo — it works nicely against both the dark and light sections.

Preview link: <https://island-meets-italy.v47vansh.workers.dev/>

All six pages are now built with your approved copy — everything that could be done with the content so far.

Still waiting on: logo, brand colours and typography from David; book cover; ISBN and publication date; purchase link; official email and social links; final media kit. All built and ready to drop in.

Any sense of when we will have the brand assets ready? That's the main thing between here and finished.

Best,
Vansh

I should have the remaining brand assets ready within the next few days.

Thanks brother

Hi Vansh,

I've received the official Island Meets Italy logo and font files from my book designer, David. I've attached the complete package for you to use in finalizing the website branding.

David has also offered to review the website once it's ready to make sure the colours and branding are consistent with the original design.

Please let me know if you need anything else from me at this stage.

Best,
Kenton
